You don't have to go to church to be a Christian. You don't have to go home to be married either. But in both cases if you do not, you'll have a very poor relationship.

— R. Kent Hughes

Faith Foundations

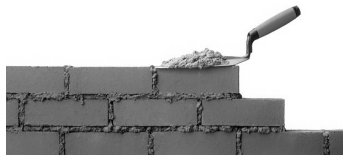

Why do people join a church? Maybe this: Because they want to connect with God and grow in faith. And then live it out in their daily life in practical ways.

At Cargill UMC, you don't have to be a "member" of a church to experience God, to participate in the life of the church, to participate in Holy Communion. We do believe, though, that being a member is a tangible way to say "yes" to God and to show by example that "faith matters to me, and I'd like to be a partner in the mission of this church because we are stronger together than we are alone."

Each week we offer a way to help build a life of faith

Today we recognize Heritage members who have reached 50+ years of membership, as well as those who have joined Cargill in the past year.
